Dear Ms. Dortch:

Michael Gravino, Director of the LPTV Spectrum Rights Coalition, LLC, (the "Coalition"), met on June 29th, with the following staff from the Commission to discuss the NextGen TV rulemaking: Nancy Murphy, Associate Chief Media Bureau; Martha Heller, Chief Policy Division, Media Bureau; Steven Broeckaert, Senior Deputy Chief, Policy Division, Media Bureau; Brendan Murray, Deputy Chief, Policy Division, Media Bureau; Evan Baranoff, Policy Division, Media Bureau; Kim Matthews, Policy Division, Media Bureau; Barbara Kreisman, Chief, Video Division, Media Bureau; Evan Morris, Video Division, Media Bureau; Shaun Maher, Video Division, Media Bureau; Paul Murray, Associate Chief, OET; Martin Doczkat, Chief, Technical Analysis Branch; Barbara Pavon, OET; Mark Colombo, OET; and, Sarah Burgat, Intern, Chief, Disability Rights Office.

The Coalition went over its' key points of the Reply Comments it had submitted. Basically, that there should be very limited use of any temporary channels, as over 4000 LPTV and translator licenses and permits are being displaced by the auction and repack, and all channels in many markets will be needed.

We also discussed how the 26 dBu contours could work both for and against LPTV. With the for being greater coverage and population counts, and the against being more interference being created and the high probability that many stations in adjacent markets could be displaced by this new contour. But that it also could work to the advantage for LPTV when it creates a perfect SFN (single frequency network) opportunity.

Respectfully submitted,
